

Support - Resistances

1642/1632 – 1655/1665

Market today

“Worries inflation hiked in May pressuring the market.”

The SET and major markets around the world are still seeing pressure from worries about rising inflation and interest rates to counter the high inflation. 10-year US bond yield is on an upward trend and recently returned to above 3%. The SET is likely to weaken and has supports at 1,642 and 1,632, and resistance is limited between 1,655-1,665.

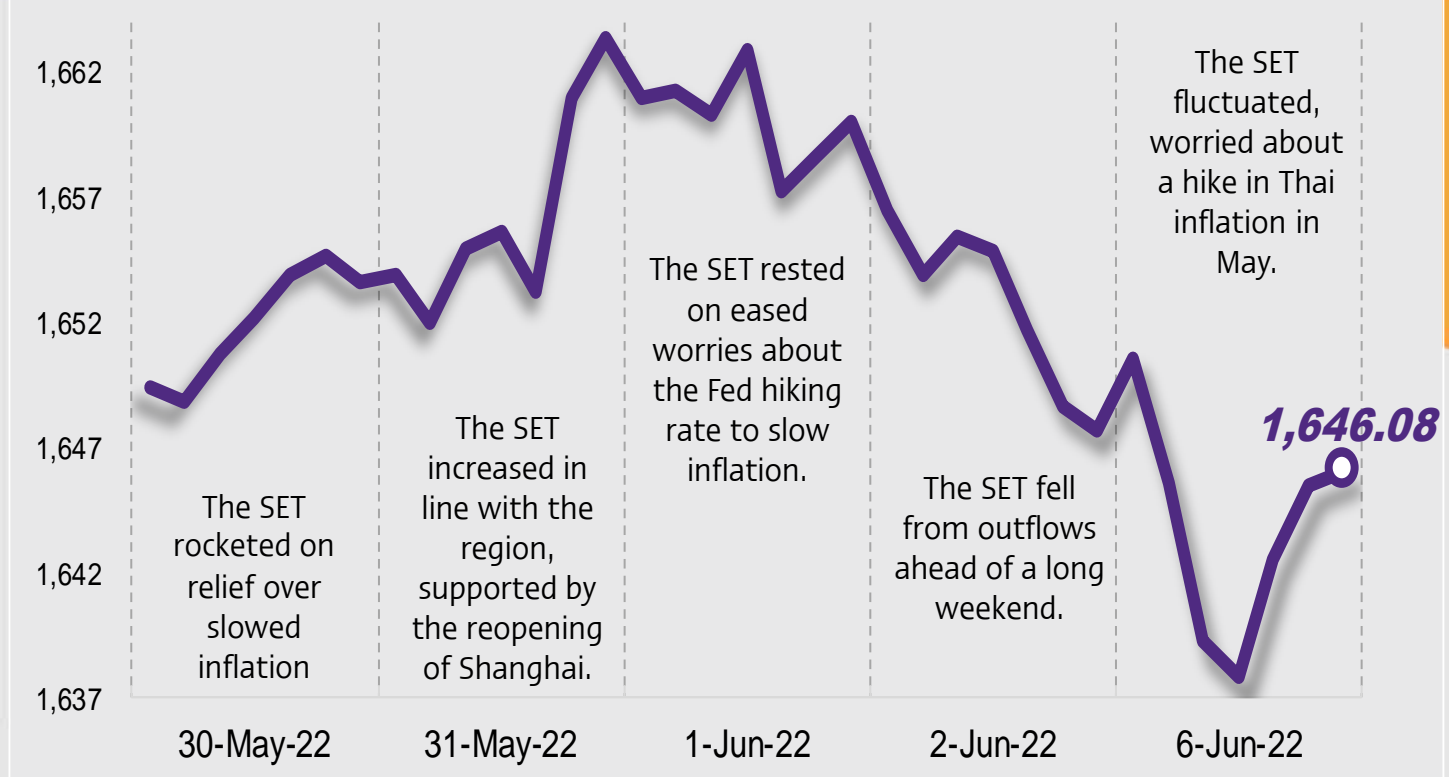

Today's highlights

- The CCSA is considering relieving the mandate for masks in public areas on June 10; this will be sent to Cabinet next week.
- The OFFO announced a Bt1 rise in diesel price to Bt34 per litre and a cut in funds for the oil fund, effective today.
- Thai inflation in May rose 7.10% YoY, on higher energy and food prices. Inflation is likely to again rise in June off a rise in goods and services prices and last year's low base.

Strategy today

We see economic risk as still at a high level as economic indicators from June to the end of the year will tend to be slowed by the energy crisis and steady rise in food prices due to tight supply. We suggest “selective buy” in stocks with good quality or a specific positive story.

Trading today

Weekly portfolio: We continue to suggest very cautious investment, therefore we recommend to invest in good quality defensive stocks or in companies with specific positive factors:

- 1) stocks whose earnings have good momentum or whose 2Q22 earnings will continue to improve – IVL, AMATA, MTC, CPALL and OSP;
- 2) stock benefitting from the move up in 10-year US bond yield – BLA;
- 3) stocks that benefit from a weaker Thai baht and/or from rising food prices – GFPT and CPF.

Daily focus

BANPU: benefits from an upward trend in coal price from tighter supply as India is importing more as its coal reserves are low, US gas price has gone above US$9/gallon and China eases its lockdown, which means the resumption of economic activities and thus more coal demand.

KBANK: expects 2022 earnings to grow 21% YoY on a reduction in credit cost and loan growth and a possible hike in interest rate by the BoT earlier than expected to counter inflation, which benefits NIM of large-scale banks.

Support - Resistances

1642/1632 – 1655/1665

Market today

“Investors have more cautious view on the market.”

The SET is expected to continue weakening on caution about inflation and the economy after US bond yield rose and the US dollar appreciated, causing the Thai baht to weaken and leading to fund outflows. The SET has supports at 1,642 and 1,632, and resistance is limited between 1,655-1,665.

Today's highlights

- OPEC+ agreed to increase oil production capacity in July and August to 6.48K from 4.32K barrels per day, compensating for the loss of Russian capacity.
- The EPPO is preparing to promote investment in batteries and chargers for electric vehicles (EVs) by providing investment and tax incentives, positive to EV-related stocks.
- Key points to follow this week: Thailand May inflation rate on Jun 6, the MPC meeting on Jun 8, the EPC meeting on Jun 9, and US May inflation rate on Jun 10.

Strategy today

We see economic risk as still at a high level as economic indicators from June to the end of the year will tend to be slowed by the energy crisis and steady rise in food prices due to tight supply. We suggest “selective buy” in stocks with good quality or a specific positive story.

Trading today

Weekly portfolio: We continue to suggest very cautious investment, therefore we recommend to invest in good quality defensive stocks or with specific positive factors:

- 1) stocks whose earnings have good momentum or 2Q22 earnings will continue to improve – IVL, AMATA, MTC, CPALL and OSP;
- 2) stocks that benefit from an upward trend of 10-year US bond yield – BLA;
- 3) stocks that benefit from weakening Thai baht and/or from rising food prices – GFPT and CPF.

In the short term, we suggest to be cautious in 1) stocks that are pressured by costs that are related to agricultural products and energy, such as power plants (SSP), logistics, construction materials, packaging, consumer goods that use wheat as raw materials (SNNP, TFMAMA, NSL and SNP); and 2) mining stocks where negative sentiment is expected from a fall in the cryptocurrency market and rising electricity cost, making it highly probable investment will be unprofitable or payback period longer than expected.

Daily focus

BCP: expect strong 2Q22 earnings as world oil supply is tight and not enough to meet the high demand that is rising due to many countries starting to resume economic activities and stockpiling energy reserves in Europe and India while China resumes more activities.

AMATA: earnings have passed a twelve-month low; we expect good earning momentum this year after eased lockdown and lift up travel restrictions. At present, there is backlog of more than Bt5bn, with 60% expected to be recorded as revenue in 2H22.
